Hi,

Firstly, I am sorry about my English, but I am French (nobody is perfect ;-).

I am very surprised by this judgement and all aspects of them. It seems to be much more a concurrence driving process than a legal judgement.

I think that it will be great for Microsoft to go in France, because freedom is more really here than in USA. Nobody can tell you that you don't be better ore more efficient than another company. I'm not sure that in case of another company the impact would be the same. My personal vision of this case is that it seems to be a "hunting sorcery".

I not happy to don't have in France company like Microsoft but I think that US government won't be happy to have this attitude when this judgement will be view by an "history" point of view. And I am not sure that other company who will take advantage of this situation are more "customer oriented" than Microsoft.
